GEORGE GILMORE TO BOX DE MELLO AT EVEN WEIGHTS

Ben de Mello and George "Slim" Gilmore were matched last night to box fifteen rounds on the night of March 2 at 150 pounds at 8 o'clock of the afternoon of the day of the contest.

Charles Barron represented Gilmore and a local newspaperman looked after de Mello's interests.

There was some discussion as to weight and it was finally agreed that the men should weigh 150 pounds at 3 o'clock.

In order that the match might be properly bound, each representative deposited $50 with Sporting Editor Redding of the Evening Bulletin to act as weight and appearance referee. The match looks like a good one.

De Mello, with nine pounds the worst of the weights, boxed a splendid draw with Hoao, who has also a twelve-round draw with Gilmore to his credit.

In the coming contest the men will enter the ring on even terms, as far as weight is concerned, and a sterling contest should be the outcome.

Gilmore has repeatedly offered to meet anyone in the Territory at 150 pounds, and now a chance is offered him to make good on his own terms. He was not in the best of shape when he boxed Hoao, having started active training too late and worked too hard in the limited time at his disposal, the result being that his work lacked vigor, and the strain of the twelve rounds told considerably on him.

In his next bout Gilmore will have no excuses to offer on this score. He has ample time to get into the best of trim, and it is due to the public and himself that he does so. He contented himself leaving for the Colonias after his contest with de Mello and will leave no effort unspared to carry a winning record of his last bout in the islands along with him.

Surprising form and capered about the court like a lamb on a spring morning. He was here, there and every where, and to say that he and his partner made rings round their opponents would be stating the case but mildly. McCallum and Greenwell took the second set, 6 to 1.

The third set also went to McCallum and his partner, the score being 6 to 3.

After the match McCallum weighed himself to settle an argument and found that during the play he had lost exactly SEVENTEEN pounds.

An exciting tennis match was played last week between W. D. McCallum (the Great) and W. Greenwell against Malcolm MacIntyre and B. F. Beardmore.

McCallum, who is a giant in height and girth, had been in training for the event for some time and looked fit as he took the scratch.

He could not get into swing in the first set, however, complaining bitterly of the heat, and he and his partner suffered defeat in their initial essay by the score of 1-6.

The set was a valuable workout for McCallum, ten pounds of mighty good fat draining off upon the thirsty court before it was finished.

In the second set, relieved by the loss of avoidupolis, McCallum showed
